

SAVIR STUDENT PAPER AWARD ANNOUNCEMENT

The SAVIR 2019 Conference Planning and Membership Committees are pleased to announce the student paper competition. Students who have an abstract accepted to present at the 2019 SAVIR Conference are invited to participate for the Brooks Webb Student Paper Competition. The winner of the student paper award will receive $250. The journal Injury Prevention has agreed to give the winning paper special consideration for publication.

Purpose

The purpose of the SAVIR Student Paper Competition is to recognize quality injury research conducted by students

What to Submit

To compete for the paper competition, the student must prepare a submission describing the research summarized in the conference abstract.

The manuscripts must be prepared following the guidelines for submitting a BRIEF REPORT to Injury Prevention; brief reports are up to 1500 words with up to four tables. Detailed instructions for authors are found here: <http://injuryprevention.bmj.com/site/about/guidelines.xhtml>.

Combine all documents (including the title page, abstract, text of the paper, tables, figures, references) into a single PDF document. NOTE: include two versions of the title page – one that includes author names and affiliations, and one that includes no name or affiliation information (for blind review). It is allowable for coauthors to be listed as appropriate given the conduct of the research and manuscript preparation.

It is understood that the student has led the research being presented.
